the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are undernourished has increased from 600 million to 800 million (FAO 2001). The number of people who are malnourished has increased from 1.1 billion in 1990 to 1.5 billion in 2000 (FAO 2001).

Malnutrition is a global public health problem. It is a leading cause of morbidity and mortality in children and is a major cause of adult disability. Malnutrition is also a major cause of economic stagnation and poverty in developing countries (FAO 2001). The World Bank (2000) estimated that malnutrition costs the world economy $100 billion annually in lost productivity.

Malnutrition is a complex problem that is caused by a variety of factors, including poverty, lack of access to food, lack of knowledge about nutrition, and lack of access to health care. Malnutrition is a preventable problem, and it is important to take steps to reduce its prevalence. This paper will discuss the causes of malnutrition and the steps that can be taken to reduce its prevalence.

TO THE CLASS OF 1942

The members of the Men's and Women's Councils welcome you to Mansfield State Teachers College and hope that here, in the realization of your desires, you will share and enrich the ideals and traditions which have made students for seventy-six years proud of this College.

FOREWORD

Mansfield State Teachers College exists to educate men and women to be worthy teachers. In order to make possible the development of character necessary for the achievement of this purpose, the College has entrusted to the students a share in their government. For that reason, each student on registration at Mansfield automatically becomes a member of the Students' Cooperative Government Association, accepting its obligations and its responsibilities as well as its privileges.

Whenever a number of people live together there must exist some form of social control or government. Accordingly, the regulations which govern the Students' Cooperative Government Association are intended to promote the best possible life for the College community. These regulations, as set forth in this handbook, are subject to change as College opinion develops; but until such changes have been formally made, each student is required in the spirit of honor to keep them.

THE CAMPUS

Mansfield State Teachers College is located in Northern Pennsylvania, in the region known to an earlier people as "The Garden of the Six Nations." Its campus, overlooking the town of Mansfield, comprises approximately fifty acres.

North Hall, the central building on the campus, is a combined women's dormitory and administration building. In it are located dormitory accommodations for women faculty members and students; the offices of the President, the deans, and the business staff; the dining hall, the kitchens, and the bakery; reception and conference rooms; the Campus Book and Supply Store; and recreation and music-practice rooms.

South Hall, occupying the site of the original Mansfield Classical Seminary, is a combined men's dormitory and library building. In it are located dormitory accommodations for men faculty members and students; the office of the Dean of Men; assembly, recreation, and music-practice rooms; and the Library, which occupies the entire ground floor.

The Library is composed of a large reading room and an adjoining reference and reserve room. A circulating collection of 20,000 volumes is housed in the former; general reference material and special groups of books designated by instructors, in the latter. With the exception of the reserve collection, all books are on open shelves and may be consulted freely by students. Under liberal regulations, all may be drawn from the Library.

Alumni Hall, with its traditional Clock Tower, is an instructional building. One of the oldest structures on the campus, the building is distinguished not only for its academic usefulness, but also for its historical interest.

The New Home Economics and Music Education Building, one of the recent plant additions under the General State Authority, is a modern structure containing adequate equipment in the specialized fields of Home Economics and Music Education. Classrooms, conference rooms, laboratories, and administrative quarters are located here.

The Home Management Apartment provides a model "home" situation, where groups of women students with a resident instructor live and work together as part of the course in Home Economics Education. Here, all the activities of a normal family in its own home are carried on by the students, who rotate in the capacities of hostess, waitress, cook, laundress, housekeeper, and house guest.

The Science Building affords space for chemical, physical, and biological laboratories; a large lecture room; a dark room; and stock and supply rooms. Offices of several instructors are located in this building.

Straughn Hall, the College auditorium, seats 1250 persons and is adequately equipped to further elaborate and exacting forms of theatrical endeavor. Installed in this building is complete sound-motion picture apparatus, as is a three-manual pipe organ. Situated here, also, are two of the Music studios.

The New Gymnasium, another recent addition under the General State Authority, provides facilities in the field of Physical Education. The structure contains offices for the directors of the department, a double floor where men's and women's activities may be carried on simultaneously, a modern swimming pool, locker and shower rooms, and other provisions necessary for a full Physical Education and athletic program.

The Infirmary is a student health center, advantageously set apart from the dormitories, containing the office of the Resident Physician, the apartment of the Resident Nurse, and rooms for the treatment of injury and illness. In connection with the Infirmary are Isolation Quarters for the care of students ill with contagious diseases.

The Laundry is completely equipped to care for the work of all students residing in the dormitories.

The New Campus Elementary School, another unit of the recent building program, provides a laboratory situation for prospective teachers of rural and elementary schools, grades one to six inclusive. In this building are found classrooms with observation booths; special Music, Cultural Art, and Industrial Arts quarters; a large gymnasium-auditorium; departmental offices; and clinical facilities.

The Campus Junior High School provides similar provisions for the prospective teacher of grades seven, eight, and nine. Here are located classrooms, laboratories, a library, mechanical and printing shops, a gymnasium, departmental offices, and clinical facilities.

The Mansfield Senior High School, in cooperation with the College, provides further opportunities for student observation and teaching. Here, supplementary work in specialized fields is made possible through vocational Agriculture and vocational Home Economics departments operated in accordance with the George-Deen vocational act.

The YMCA Hut is a bungalow devoted exclusively to the recreational and non-sectarian religious activities of the men. Here are located a large assembly and game room, which is provided with pool tables, a piano, a radio, and facilities for lounging and reading; a smoking room; and a small room for special meetings.

The YWCA Rooms are furnished and utilized in accordance with the ideals of this organization. A large assembly room, provided with a piano, a radio, and other recreational facilities, and a well-equipped kitchen make possible relaxation and good-fellowship for student groups.

The President's Home, a brick colonial structure situated at one edge of the campus, harmonizes with the buildings of the College proper.

HIKING

By signing in the registration book on her corridor, women in groups of three or more may hike outside the borough limits during the day.

Because of the danger of accidents involved, permission of parents must be secured before students may go horseback-riding. Letters granting this permission are to be sent by the parents directly to the Office of the Dean of Women. Arrangements for each trip must be made in the Office of the Dean of Women.

in order that women may attend House Meetings and YWCA Meetings.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR PROGRAM

The extra-curricular program at Mansfield is planned to give each student opportunity to participate in activities which will give expression to his interests and abilities and which will afford socially-constructive experiences for him. This program includes the work of many campus organizations; social activities of a formal, semi-formal, and informal nature; student-participating programs given in assemblies; a course of entertainment by artists; and a series of sound-motion pictures.

CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS

The Men's and Women's Councils are elected by the student body to maintain the purposes of the Students' Cooperative Government Association. Their work aims to make possible the release and the development of personality by providing opportunities for students to assume social responsibility, to make just decisions and wise choices, and to develop inner controls through increasing knowledge of themselves and growing conceptions of right and wrong.

Athletic Organizations

The In'collegiate Athletic Teams are maintained on the basis of non-professionalism and good-sportsmanship, and in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Pennsylvania Conference of State Teachers Colleges. Included in their activities are football, basketball, wrestling, baseball, and tennis. Schedules are so arranged that half of the games are played at home, affording the student body adequate opportunity to see the varsity teams in action. Every man may try out for a team and receive instruction in the fundamentals of the game.

The Intramural Athletic Teams afford every man an opportunity to engage in a sport to his liking. Among the most popular activities are basketball, swimming, tennis, badminton, and horseshoes.

The Women's Athletic Teams provide a similar opportunity for women, the activities including basketball, swimming, tennis, hockey, bowling, and hiking.

The "M" Club is made up of those men who have earned a varsity letter in one or more of the major sports. Its purposes are two-fold: to encourage wholesome living and good sportsmanship and to stimulate interest in athletics.

The Women's Athletic Association aims to advance the cause of physical education and recreation. Its meetings are devoted to health, games, and sportsmanship.

Dramatic and Literary Organizations

The Dramatic Club is the principal histrionic organization at Mansfield. Each year through its activity a three-act play and several groups of one-act plays are presented to the public.

The Carontawan Board, chosen largely from the senior class, publishes the yearbook of the College, which is dedicated to the reflection and perpetuation of student life.

The Flashlight Board, selected from all classes and departments, publishes the College newspaper.

The Handbook Staff is made up of the Men's and Women's Councils and is concerned with compiling information about the College and its life, dedicated primarily to the freshmen.

The Cadence Staff, selected from students in the Music Education Department, produces a publication of interest to those in the field of public school music.

The Emersonian Literary Society is concerned with the intellectual development of its members. Membership is open to both men and women and is determined after careful consideration of applications.

Musical Organizations

The Men's Chorus is made up of every male voice in the Music Education Department. Excellent results are achieved, and students become acquainted with a wealth of worthwhile material.

The Mixed Chorus is made up of every member of the Music Education Department, together with students from outside the department. Voice-blending and fine choral literature are studied, and at least one concert a year is presented. The aim of the chorus is to give every student a good background, so that he will be able to use discrimination in selecting his music when he goes into the teaching field.

The Vested Choir is an organization of selected mixed voices, which studies sacred and secular musical literature. Emphasis is placed on intonation, interpretation, and routine activities essential to fine ensemble singing. Much of the music is a capella.

The Women's Chorus offers opportunities for acquaintance with musical literature for unchanged voices. It aims to teach the students the principles of choral interpretation, through the study of a varied selection of choral compositions, both accompanied and a capella. It aims also to develop the technique of the chorister by means of regular rehearsals and public appearances.

The Symphonic Band acquaints the student with band literature, practical experience in rehearsal procedure, and standards for attainment in the field of instrumental music. It acquaints the student also with concert and broadcasting procedures and serves as a training laboratory for conducting out-of-town engagements and tours. Augmented, it offers experience in various field maneuvers.

The Symphony Orchestra is maintained to study and play great musical works, thereby adding to the cultural opportunities of the College. Outstanding symphonies are produced in concert each year on the campus and on tour.

The Red and Black Serenaders are the official student dance band which, under the sponsorship of the Music Education Department, plays an important part in the social and theatrical life of the College. The organization reflects the point of view that, since dance music is here to stay, it should be placed on as high a plane as possible.

The Music Supervisors' Club is composed of all instructors and students in the Music Education Department. It offers opportunities for discussion of new materials in the field.

The Women Day Students' Club gives women students not living on the campus a chance to become better acquainted with the extra-curricular side of College life, and with each other, through social gatherings of various sorts.

POINT SYSTEM

The point system at Mansfield State Teachers College aims to distribute responsibilities and honors in extra-curricular activities among the maximum number of students, to assist students in balancing their curricular and extra-curricular activities, to develop competent leadership in the student body, and to promote efficiency in each activity.

For the accomplishment of these purposes, each recognized extra-curricular-activity office has been assigned a certain value in points, ranging from one to ten, the number determined by the amount of work entailed by that activity. A student may carry a maximum of ten points at one time.

For women, the point system is in charge of a committee of three members. The Secretary of Public Service, an officer elected by the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association, shall be the chairman. The other two members shall be appointed by the Chairman and shall be approved by the Women's Council. For men, the system is in charge of one member of the Men's Council.

It shall be the duty of the Chairmen of the Point System Committees to enforce the point system and, with the help of their committees, to record all activities of students in card catalogues containing a card for each student and kept in the office of the respective dean.

The secretaries of all student groups must submit lists of all members and all officers within one week after organization in the fall and within two days after admissions or elections whenever these occur during the year.

SOCIAL PROGRAM

The social program at Mansfield State Teachers College aims to provide adequate experiences for all students in a variety of social situations. The program ranges from informal recreational group-activities to those which are formal. Opportunities are given students not only to participate in these activities, but also to assist in planning them.

Inasmuch as supervision of social affairs rests in the Office of the Dean of Women, detailed plans for all formal affairs are submitted for approval to the Dean of Women two weeks in advance; plans for informal affairs, to the Assistant Dean of Women one week in advance. Requests for places on the monthly social calendar should be submitted to the Dean of Women not later than the fifteenth of the preceding month.

ASSEMBLIES

Assemblies are conducted regularly in Straughn Hall at 10 a. m. on Tuesday and Thursday. These constitute demonstrations to prospective teachers of instructional and entertaining programs involving groups of different age-levels and of varied abilities. In connection with these assemblies, professional talent is presented from time to time, as are newsreels and other sound-motion picture materials.

ARTISTS COURSE

For many years it has been the policy of Mansfield State Teachers College to provide professional entertainment of a high quality for its personnel and patrons. In the coming year the Artists Course will include numbers of a lecture, dramatic, and musical nature. For students, there is no special charge for these presentations.

SOUND-MOTION PICTURE SERIES

Supplementing the Artists Course is an intensive Sound-Motion Picture Series, based on the best products of the foremost studios. Planned not only for entertainment, but also for educational purposes, the program enjoys the endorsement and support of students, instructors, and the general public alike. Again, there is no special charge for students.
